The University sent a customized email communication to eligible students on October 20, 2021 to their University accounts. The email read as follows:

Dear Student,

To ensure you are receiving the maximum amount of federal funds for the 2021-22 academic year, we are reaching out to all students to determine if a special circumstance may be warranted. If your family, due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic, has had a significant change in income from your 2019 federal taxes please let us know.

If you believe this applies to you, you will need to submit a letter of explanation that includes a timeline of when the change of income occurred and the reason for the change. You will receive a follow-up email requesting required support documentation that will support your special circumstance request. This could include, but is not limited to: copies of 1040 federal tax return(s), unemployment documentation, severance pay, and pay stubs. Please include the phone number and e-mail of the person we need to contact regarding this information in your letter.

Even though you have a special circumstance, it does not guarantee you will be eligible for additional funds.

Students that have already submitted special circumstance paperwork for the 2021-22 academic year do not need to complete this process again.

All special circumstances received, including those who have already submitted for 2021-22, will be reviewed to determine if additional HEERF III funds may also be available to the student. There is a priority date of November 15, 2021 to be eligible for these additional funds.
